

I declare that

“Traditional medicine and its accommodation in the South African national health care system – with special attention to possible statutory regulation” is my own work and that all the sources I have used or quoted have been indicated and acknowledged by means of complete references.