THE TRAINING NEEDS OF LIFE ORIENTATION EDUCATORS IN THE MABOPANE DISTRICT

by

ENID MANYAKU TLHABANE

Submitted in part fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of

MASTER OF EDUCATION

(with specialisations in Guidance and Counselling)

in

PSYCHOLOGY OF EDUCATION

at the

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH AFRICA

SUPERVISOR: PROFESSOR FE GOUWS

NOVEMBER 2004
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I express my deepest appreciation to the following people:

- To God Almighty for giving me the courage and strength to complete this degree.

- To Professor E. Gouws, my supervisor for her encouragement, patience and her expert guidance that enabled me to complete this valuable study. I am grateful to her for her support for easing what seemed to be an insurmountable task.

- Professor Shultze for her expert advice, diligence, unwavering assistance with chapters 4 and 5 as well as her assistance with the statistical data. I am thankful to her for her willingness to assist me during the course of my study.

- My parents, Obed and Violet, whose silent prayers and words of comfort gave me the strength to complete this task.

- My two lovely children, Keletso and Kearabilwe, for enduring my divided attention.

- My very supportive sisters, Shiela and Eunice, and my niece, Paballo and nephews, Letlhogonolo and Didintle for acting as a source of unconditional love throughout my years of study.

- To my true friend, Rantopo Sekao for his undying support and for letting me believe in myself.
THE TRAINING NEEDS OF LIFE ORIENTATION EDUCATORS IN THE MABOPANE DISTRICT

SUMMARY

Life Orientation is one the learning areas which was introduced by Curriculum 2005 in the General Education and Training band. Its inclusion in the Further Education and training curriculum from 2005 is indicative of its unsurpassed importance to learners. However, these changes have brought about challenges and uncertainty among educators.

A literature study was done to discuss the concepts of Life Orientation content, the role of educators, the skills Life Orientation educators should possess and adolescence. The different approaches in relation to the teaching of Life Orientation were also explained. A survey study, using a quantitative research design, was done to investigate educators’ response on their knowledge of Life Orientation content, Life Orientation skills and adolescent development. The results of the study indicate that Life Orientation educators lack confidence in these three areas. Therefore, educators require training to equip them to cope with the challenges of the learning area, Life Orientation.

KEY TERMS

Life Orientation, Life Orientation educator, Learning area, Life Orientation content, Life Orientation skills, Role of Life Orientation educator, Adolescent, Senior phase learner, Life skills, Training.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER ONE

BACKGROUND AND ORIENTATION 1

1.1 BACKGROUND 1

1.2 ANALYSIS OF THE PROBLEM 3

1.2.1 Awareness of the problem 3

1.2.2 Preliminary literature study 4

1.2.2.1 Teachers qualification 5

1.2.2.2 Environmental setting 5

1.2.2.3 Educational support services 5

1.2.2.4 Sexuality education 6

1.2.2.5 Inclusive education 6

1.2.2.6 Parental involvement 7

1.2.3 Statement of the problem 7

1.3 AIM OF THE RESEARCH 8

1.4 RESEARCH METHOD 8

1.5 DEMARcation OF RESEARCH 9

1.6 CLARIFICATION OF CONCEPTS 10

1.7 RESEARCH PROGRAMME 12
CHAPTER TWO
AN OVERVIEW OF THE LEARNING AREA:
LIFE ORIENTATION

2.1 INTRODUCTION

2.2 THE BACKGROUND OF LIFE ORIENTATION
2.2.1 Curriculum 2005
2.2.2 Curriculum 2005 review

2.3 DEFINITION OF LIFE ORIENTATION

2.4 THE SCOPE OF LIFE ORIENTATION
2.4.1 Five learning outcomes of Life Orientation
2.4.1.1 Learning outcome one: Health promotion
2.4.1.2 Learning outcome two: Social development
2.4.1.3 Learning outcome three: Personal development
2.4.1.4 Learning outcome four: Physical development
2.4.1.5 Learning outcome five: Orientation to the world of work

2.5 APPROACHES AND TECHNIQUES
2.5.1 Behavioural approach
2.5.2 Client centred approach
2.5.3 Existential approach
2.5.4 Family system approach
2.5.5 Rational emotive theory 32
2.5.5.1 Implications for the school 34
2.5.6 Reality theory 34
2.5.6.1 Implications for the school 35
2.5.7 Outcome-based approach (OBE) 35

2.6 CONCLUSION 38

CHAPTER THREE
THE ROLE OF LIFE ORIENTATION EDUCATOR
IN THE TEACHING AND LEARNING OF LIFE
ORIENTATION 39

3.1 INTRODUCTION 39

3.2 THE SENIOR PHASE LEARNER 39

3.3 ADOLESCENT DEVELOPMENT 41
3.3.1 Physical development 41
3.3.1.1 Pubertal development 42
3.3.1.2 Implication for the learner 43
3.3.2 Intellectual development 44
3.3.2.1 Formal operations 45
3.3.2.2 Implications for the learner 46
3.3.3 Emotional development 47
3.3.3.1 Implication for the learner 47
3.3.4 Social development 48
3.3.4.1 Implication for the learner 49

3.4 PROBLEMS ENCOUNTERED BY LEARNER 50
3.4.1 Anxiety 50
3.4.2 Depression 51
3.4.3 Divorce in the family 51
3.4.4 Retrenchment of parents 52
3.4.5 Suicide 53

3.5 THE LIFE ORIENTATION EDUCATOR 53
3.5.1 The qualities of Life Orientation educator 54
3.5.2 The role of Life Orientation educator 54
3.5.3 The skills of Life Orientation educator 55
3.5.3.1 The Life Orientation educator as a counsellor 55
3.5.3.2 Listening 56
3.5.3.3 Empathetic relationship 56
3.5.3.4 Respect towards learners 57
3.5.3.5 Communication 57
3.5.3.6 The ability to assess and notice distress 57
3.5.3.7 Confidentiality 58
3.5.3.8 Helping a learner to make a choice 58
3.5.3.9 Helping learners with study skills 59
3.5.3.10 Educative intervention 59
3.5.3.11 Cross-cultural issues 60
3.5.3.12 Competency 60
3.5.3.13 A remedial educator 60

3.6 CONCLUSION 61

CHAPTER FOUR
THE RESEARCH DESIGN 62

4.1 INTRODUCTION 62
CONCLUSIONS, RECOMMENDATIONS AND LIMITATIONS

6.1 INTRODUCTION

6.2 FINDING FROM LITERATURE STUDY
6.2.1 The scope of Life Orientation
6.2.2 The impact of adolescence developmental stages on the teaching of Life Orientation
6.2.3 The role of the Life Orientation educator

6.3 FINDINGS FROM RESEARCH DESIGN
6.3.1 Hypotheses
6.3.2 Knowledge of Life Orientation content
6.3.3 Knowledge of the adolescent
6.3.4 Life Orientation skills
6.3.5 General recommendations

6.4 LIMITATIONS OF THE RESEARCH

6.5 CONCLUSION

BIBLIOGRAPHY

LIST OF TABLES:

Table 1: Demographic background of respondents 70
Table 2: Confidence of educators concerning Life Orientation Content 73
Table 3: Confidence of educators concerning knowledge of Adolescence 76

Table 4: Difference in average knowledge of Life Orientation content 79
Table 5: Confidence of educators concerning Life Orientation skills 82
Table 6: Difference in average knowledge of adolescent development 84
Table 7: Difference in average knowledge of Life Orientation skills 86

LIST OF FIGURES:

Figure 1.1: National Qualification Framework 10
Figure 2.1: The relationship within the school triangle 31
Figure 3.1: Developmental patterns of the adolescent 41
Figure 6.1: Educator level of uncertainty regarding their knowledge of Life Orientation 96

APPENDICES

APPENDIX 1: A letter requesting permission to conduct research at schools 111

APPENDIX 2: Questionnaire 112