THE LAW OF DEFAMATION

(LIBEL AND SLANDER)

IN SOUTH AFRICA

By

MANFRED NATHAN, K.C., LL.D.

(PRESIDENT, INCOME TAX SPECIAL COURT, LATELY ACTING JUDGE, SUPREME COURT OF SOUTH AFRICA).

This work has met with the unanimous approval of the reviewers, and can be recommended with confidence to practitioners and students as a standard guide to one of the most important branches of the law.

The Cape Times says: "Dr. Nathan has arranged his subject-matter systematically and well, and his manual will be found invaluable and enlightening as a reference book on the law of defamation. The book is also fully indexed."

The Cape Argus says: "Altogether an exhaustive, well-arranged and interesting text-book, containing what lawyers prize above rubies—a good index."

The Eastern Province Herald says: "This is the first complete and systematic treatise on the Law of Defamation that has ever been published in the Union, and it supplies a want that has long been felt by legal practitioners, students and journalists. The work covers the whole field of defamation. . . . The book is a well-bound volume of 416 pages. Some 600 cases have been cited, there being about 1,500 separate case citations, while a very complete index is given containing about 3,000 entries."

The Natal Mercury says: "The book is indispensable in the South African world of law."

Mr. C. T. Blakeway, writing in The South African Law Times, says: "Dr. Nathan's latest book will supply a much-needed addition to the lawyer's library. . . . Principles are illustrated by a liberal quotation of South African and English cases. . . . The book is well arranged. . . . An appendix gives some useful examples of declarations and pleas in various branches of the law of defamation."

The work has already been cited with effect in the Courts in several actions for defamation.

The volume contains 416 pages, handsomely bound, with gilt-lettered back.
