

PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT AS A TOOL FOR PEER HELPERS TO MONITOR THEIR DEVELOPMENT

by

ELSABÉ MARIE MILL

submitted in fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of

MASTER OF ARTS

in the subject

PSYCHOLOGY

at the

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH AFRICA

SUPERVISOR: PROFESSOR C MOORE

JUNE 2005

ABSTRACT

The purpose of this study is to tell the story of how four peer helpers within the Unisa Peer Help Volunteer Programme managed their portfolio development processes to monitor their growth and development which took place as a result of their involvement in peer helper activities.

The epistemological framework of this study is interpretive and involved in-depth interviews with four peer helpers who rendered volunteer services at the University of South Africa and have been developing their career portfolios over a period of time. Hermeneutics was the method used to analyse the data.

The stories of the four participants were transcribed and retold by the researcher in the form of themes that emerged. This study contained the stories of how the participants initially struggled to understand the concept and purpose of portfolios; how they took charge of the process; and how their attitudes changed from uncertainty and confusion to viewing the process as worthwhile - thus enabling them to commit themselves, to varying degrees, to the development of their individual portfolios. Recurring themes present in all four stories were described in the researcher's story of the participants' stories.

The information generated by this study could serve as guidelines for not only peer helpers interested in developing their own portfolios, but also for project leaders involved in the management of peer helper groups and who plan to implement portfolios in their programmes.

Key words: Peer help/ing, peer counselling, peer helper/counsellor, portfolio management, portfolio development, career portfolio/s, South African and international contexts, interpretive methods, qualitative research, hermeneutics, stories.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to extend my sincere appreciation to the following individuals for their support and encouragement during this study:

Professor Cora Moore, my supervisor, for your positive encouragement and motivation throughout my study. I am most appreciative for your input regarding the structuring of the chapters which helped me to not only tell the participants' stories, but also the Unisa story. A sincere word of thanks also for your constant reminders, right from the start of this study, that I should enjoy the process - which I indeed did.

To all staff members involved in the Unisa Peer Help Volunteer Programme: To the project leaders - Sonja Barnard, Mmemeru Lephondo, Tshifhiwa Netshishivhe, Pam Nielson, Amy Reddy, and Jan van Leeuwen for your professional contributions in making this exciting programme such a success. Thank you for your interest and unfailing support. A special word of thanks also to Sonja Barnard, Amy Reddy and Dr Jan van Leeuwen for acting as peer reviewers of the participants' stories. A word of thanks should also go to Leza Deyzel, Thirusha Ganesram, Lazarus Mkhakha, Neliswa Nkwali, Johanna Tele and Sonja van de Venter who ensured the smooth running of the programme.

Nandi, Bongsi, Boitumelo and Tebogo, the four participants of this study. Thank you for freely sharing your stories with me and for being willing to become a part of this study.

The Unisa peer helper groups at the main campus in Pretoria and at the regional centres in Cape Town, Durban, Johannesburg and Polokwane for providing a quality volunteer service to the Unisa students and the community at large. Thank you for the many volunteer hours dedicated to the programme. Without you, this study would not have been possible.

Dr At van Schoor, Director, Bureau for Counselling, Career and Academic Development, Unisa for your encouragement and support of my studies.

To my peers: Dr Litha Beekman for motivating me to start, helping me when I lacked direction and for monitoring my progress regularly; Dr Elize Terblanche for your encouragement and for supporting me with the final layout of my study. Thank you for showing me real peer support in practice; Sonja Barnard, my colleague and friend, for long hours of discussion and exchanges of ideas around the issue of portfolios and the experiences of the participants; and Ms Marina de Jager, Peer Help Project Leader, Nelson Mandela Metropolitan University, for introducing and promoting peer helping in South Africa and for your support and interest in this study.

To my family: My husband, Christopher, for your support, encouragement and willingness to edit my work - especially during the times that you were also having your own work pressures; my children, Jason and Melanie, for your understanding during the times when I was clearly preoccupied with my studies; my mothers, Ruth Wicht and Merle Mill, for your practical support and faith in me; and last but not least, my helper, Elize Ngobeni, who saw to the smooth running of our home and for your constant concern about the amount of work this study entailed.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page number
1. INTRODUCTION
General introduction	1
Definition of terms	3
Aim and rationale of the study	7
Design of the study	9
Sampling and selection	11
Data collection	11
Data analysis	11
Format of the study	12
Conclusion	14
1. PEER COUNSELLING / PEER HELPING IN PERSPECTIVE
Introduction	16
Historical Overview	18
Paraprofessional Developments: 1960 - 1969.....	18
Peer Counselling Developments: 1970 - 1979.....	21
Peer Counselling Developments: 1980 onwards	23
Theoretical Roots	25
Application in diverse contexts and with diverse issues	28
Application at different educational levels	28
Application in different international locations	29
Application in specific social contexts or pertaining to specific issues.....	30
Reasons for implementing peer counselling programmes	32

Conclusion	33
3. THE PEER COUNSELLING / PEER HELPING MODEL
Introduction	35
Selection of peer counsellors	36
Recruitment	36
Criteria for preliminary selection	36
Procedures and strategies used for selection	38
Final selection	39
Peer Counsellor Training	39
Early peer counsellor training models	40
Minimum training time and duration of sessions	41
Size of the training group	41
Core training content	42
Structure of the training sessions	44
Additional training	44
Experiential techniques and activities	46
Peer counselling supervision	47
Functions and mechanisms of supervision	48
Support for the peer counsellors themselves	49
Service delivery and logistics	50
Peer counsellor duties	51
Personal growth of the peer counsellors	52
Programme evaluation	54
Conclusion	57
4. PEER HELPING IN SOUTH AFRICA: THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH AFRICA (UNISA) STORY

Introduction	60
Historical overview: Higher education in South Africa	60
Historical overview: The development of peer helping in South Africa	63
Peer help programmes at South African institutions for higher education	64
Peer helping: Developments at the University of South Africa (Unisa)	65
The Bureau for Counselling, Career and Academic Development (BCCAD)	66
The Unisa Peer Help Volunteer Programme	67
Recruitment and selection of Unisa peer help volunteers	69
Unisa peer helper training	70
• Core training in empathic listening and responding skills	71
• Supplemental training	73
• Elective practical training	75
Peer helper supervision	76
Peer helper service delivery	77
Monitoring of growth	78
Programme evaluation	80
Conclusion	81

5. PORTFOLIO DEVELOPMENT: THE STUDENT'S STORY

Introduction	84
What is a portfolio?	86
The purpose of portfolios.....	88
Instructional uses	88
• Setting specific goals for achievement	88
• Documenting incompetence or impairment	89

• Facilitating the demonstration of basic counselling skills	89
• Forming the basis for constructive feedback	89
Assessment uses	90
Types of portfolios	90
Career portfolios	92
Content, organisation and presentation of portfolios	95
General content of a portfolio	95
Career specific portfolio content	96
Organisation of material	97
Experiential learning and self-reflection	97
Ethical considerations	100
Medium of presentation of portfolios	100
Steps in developing a portfolio	101
The advantages of portfolio development	103
Difficulties and disadvantages	105
Evaluation of portfolios	107
Types of evaluation	107
Criteria for portfolio evaluation	108
Practical hints and tips on portfolio evaluation	110
Steps in implementing a portfolio programme	112
Conclusion	112

6. RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

Introduction	114
The goals of the study	114
Research setting	115
Research methodology: Qualitative / interpretive research	116
Characteristics of qualitative research	117

Reliability in qualitative research	122
Validity in qualitative research	124
The hermeneutic method	126
“Familiarisation and immersion”	127
“Inducing themes”	128
“Coding”	128
“Elaboration”	129
“Interpretation and checking”	129
“Integration: The final report”	130
Final reflection	130
The research approach	131
Rationale for selecting an interpretive, qualitative approach	131
Role of the researcher	133
• Personal background of the researcher	134
Reliability with reference to this study	135
Validity with reference to this study	135
Sampling and selection	136
Data collection	137
• The setting	138
• The interview itself	139
Data analysis	140
• The hermeneutic method	140
Conclusion	142

7. MY STORY OF NANDI’S STORY

Introduction	144
My impressions	145
Emerging themes	146

Theme of initial difficulty in understanding the concept and purpose of portfolios	146
Theme of taking charge of the portfolio development process	146
Theme of having a positive attitude towards portfolio development	147
Theme of reflecting on goals	150
Theme of facilitating on-going reflection	154
Theme of monitoring of skills development	157
Theme of using the portfolio as a resource file and document centre	162
My relationship with Nandi	163
My perspective on what was helpful	164
My perspective on what was less helpful	165
Nandi's perspective on what was helpful	166
Conclusion	166

8. MY STORY OF BONGI'S STORY

Introduction	168
My impressions	169
Emerging themes	169
Theme of initial difficulties with portfolio development	169
Theme of taking charge of the portfolio development process	170
Theme of having a positive attitude towards portfolio development	171
Theme of reflection on goals and goal directed behaviour	173
Theme of on-going reflection on experiences	175
Theme of monitoring of growth and skills development	182
Theme of using the portfolio as a document centre	186
My relationship with Bongji.....	186
My perspective on what was helpful	187
My perspective on what was less helpful	189

Bongi's perspective on what was helpful	189
Conclusion	190

9. MY STORY OF BOITUMELO'S STORY

Introduction	192
My impressions	193
Emerging themes	193
Theme of initial difficulty and confusion	193
Theme of taking charge of the portfolio development process	194
Theme of reflecting on growth	196
Theme of reflecting on experiences	198
Theme of using the portfolio as a resource file	201
My relationship with Boitumelo	202
My perspective on what was helpful	203
My perspective on what was less helpful	204
Boitumelo's perspective on what was helpful	204
Conclusion	205

10. MY STORY OF TEBOGO'S STORY

Introduction	206
My impressions	207
Emerging themes	207
Theme of initial difficulty and confusion	207
Theme of continued negativity towards the process.....	208
Theme of halfheartedly taking charge of the portfolio development process	209
Theme of on-going inner conflict	211
Theme of reflection on goals	213

Theme of difficulty in reflecting experientially	214
Theme of reflection on skills development	215
My relationship with Tebogo	218
My perspective on what was helpful	218
My perspective on what was less helpful	220
Tebogo's perspective on what was helpful	221
Conclusion	221

11. MY STORY OF THE PARTICIPANT'S STORIES

Introduction	223
Emerging themes	223
Theme of initial difficulties with portfolio development	223
Theme of taking charge of the process	224
Theme of positive versus negative attitudes towards portfolio management	226
Theme of reflection on goals and goal-directedness	229
Theme of reflection and experiential learning	232
Theme of monitoring of skills development and growth	236
Theme of using the portfolio as a resource file	240
Conclusion	241
The researcher's relationship with the participants	245

12. COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS

Introduction	251
Emerging common themes	252
Theme of initial difficulties with portfolio development	253
Theme of taking charge of the process	253
Theme of positive versus negative attitudes towards portfolio management	256

Theme of reflection on goals and goal-directedness	259
Theme of reflection and experiential learning	261
Theme of monitoring of skills development and growth	267
Theme of using the portfolio as a resource file	270
The researcher's relationship with participants	271
Conclusion	272

13. CONCLUSION

Introduction	275
Evaluation of the study	275
Strengths of the study	278
Limitations of the study	281
Recommendations for future research	281
Conclusion	282
BIBLIOGRAPHY	284
APPENDIXES.....	302

LIST OF TABLES

	Page number
Table 1: Terms used to describe individuals providing peer support	4
Table 2: Peer counselling applications at different levels of education	28
Table 3: Application in specific contexts or pertaining to specific issues	30
Table 4: Early peer counsellor training models	40
Table 5: Summary of advanced / additional training issues	45
Table 6: Summary of types of problems that peer counsellors deal with	51
Table 7: Summary of areas of peer counsellor growth	53
Table 8: Summary of peer counsellor and peer programme evaluation instruments	56
Table 9: Summary of the distribution of peer helpers trained at Unisa	68
Table 10: Summary of the learning outcomes of the core training programme	71
Table 11: Summary of the learning outcomes of the supplemental training programme	74
Table 12: Summary of the advantages of using portfolios	104
Table 13: Summary of difficulties and disadvantages of using portfolios	106
Table 14: Summary of strategies to ensure reliability in qualitative research	123
Table 15: Summary of types of validity in qualitative research	124
Table 16: Summary of the sample population	137
Table 17: Summary of Nandi's skills	158
Table 18: A comparative table of the range of skills that Nandi has developed	162