Cape Town,

15th April 1960

Dear Mrs Matthews,

Refuse I left (Parliamentary) in Cape Town to spend a few days in Johannesburg during the Easter recess, the Press announced that your husband, Professor Matthews, had been detained under the Emergency regulations.

I am very sorry this has happened. I met your husband during the parliamentary Select Committee's consideration of the Post Office Transfer Bill and I formed a high opinion of his ability and integrity. If, as a member of parliament, I can be of assistance to you at this difficult time, I shall be glad to co-operate with my colleagues in helping you.

Yours sincerely

P.A. Price.
